February 19, 1630

That day in the history when an incomparable personality, Shivaji was born in the holy land of Bharat (India) - a personality that had the capacity to create a new Bharat out of nothing.

Everywhere, foreign invaders had become rulers, Dharam was under attack, there was an absence of confidence among the Hindus and feeling that that they would not meet the challenge of foreign aggression and in the midst of all these reverses, a child's determination that he would fight the foreing invaders, drive them out and establish Swarajya, Dharam rajya. Against him stood kingdoms and empires huge armies and generals, able politicians and limitless resources. The boy had nothing except the devotion of a few boys of his own age. And with these paltry resources he fought and defected powerful kingdoms and established Dharm Rajya, The rule of law, on JYESTHA SHUKLA TRYODSHI. This day came to be called Hindu Samrajya Dinotsav. The Hindu Swayamsevak Sangh has before it the same ideal the same dream as symbolised by the event.

Shivaji's coronation on June 6, 1694 was not an individual's coronation. It was the enthronement of Dharma. It was the declaration of the establishment of Hindavi Swarajya the successful rejuvenation of Hindu Nation the revival of Hindu Culture and Vishwa Dharma
